

- When I click into anything (a product for example), I want it to show the product directly, the user shouldn't need to scroll up to see the product
- Add size guide (show gymshark sample)
- When users click onto the website, before registering an account, make a pop up that prompts the user to enter their email to get 10% offer for the first purchase. (automatically send a one-time use code via email)
- Give the user options to register an account or continue as guest
 - If register an account, save to database and user can see past, pending order and current order status once logged in.
 - If continue as guest, prompt user to key in email during check out, automatically send an order confirm email to them once payment is done
- Once user places order, store it into a database stating order placed date, product type, size, colour & quantity and send me an email per order to notify me
- Under community tab, upload pictures of real customers
- Remove COD option
- Add FAQs
- Add social links (instagram, email etc)
- Change the description for each product
- Make sold out tabs for the previous drops
- Add an "add to cart" pop up whenever they scroll down from a clicked on product.
- Change quick view to "add to cart"